Plymouth's premier sporting facility, designed by Archial Architects, was officially opened in March 2012. The £46.5m Life Centre will be the training base for Olympic divers and swimmers from across the world. When looking to furnish the new facility, contract manager David Greenwood was keen to work with a local supplier of quality furniture. Karris worked on space-plans for the office and customer areas, and supplied furniture from a range of established UK manufacturers, creating an interior image to compliment this prestigious landmark.
